USE RED TAPE AS A PROTEST

(Correspondence Associated Press)

LONDON, March 30.—A girl clerk whose arms and body were wound with red tape has just led an unusual procession through Whitehall street, the home of government departments, to draw public attention to the demands of women in government employ for equal pay and equal opportunities with men. She was followed by a large number of women employed in the Civil Service, each of whom carried a poster, while all were linked together with red tape. The posters on the posters were "Fair Play for Women," and "No Discrimination in the Civil Service."

The march was organized by the Federation of Women Civil Servants and served its purpose to attract public attention to the women's protest.

GRUNAU SIEZED THE OPPORTUNITY

(The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 16.—The inside story of the switchmen's strike which originated in this city and spread over the entire country, resulting in much suffering, tremendous business loss, enforced idleness for many thousands, threatened food and fuel shortages, and inconveniencing all the people of the United States, may be summed up in two words—Grunau and opportunity.

Starting over a minor sensible, the affair became a national movement. It has now developed into an effort to destroy the railway management and supply it with "new blood," which would be bound to its contracts, but would follow its demands at any time by shuttling off all the transportation of the country, food, fuel and even the United States mail.

It is a formidable story of the railroad attempt to get Canada to the United States, which resulted in many thousands of men and women in the Northwest. Some of the agitators also stepped up that battle here and working for the same end. When Grunau an opportunist, for lack of money of the Illinois legislature in the head and front of the strike movement. He was swept into the legislature on the Bull Moose ticket in 1917. His record there shows he was back of every radical measure, but could not be counted upon for any other purpose. During the war Grunau was exceedingly hot with his fellow workers and was threatened with expulsion from the union, because of his alleged pro-German talk and attitude. He denies this, but other members of the union insist he was threatened with expulsion.

Grunau at once appeared before the general manager and said if he was not reinstated by 10 o'clock, then on hour and a half later, he would call a strike. The general manager asked sufficient time to permit the committee of trainmen to pass upon the case, as this committee, under the union rules must pass upon all such disputes.

Grunau acceded to the request but shortly after 12 o'clock he called the strike, called it on two minutes notice because of a personal grievance.

The following day there appeared in press dispatches from Washington the statement that railway managers, conferring with the preliminary wage committee, took the ground they would not deal with any wage matter that might mean rate increases until the public was represented at the hearings.

Grunau immediately seized upon this as a weapon, and he and his associates spread the false information everywhere that everything was off at Washington, and that the wage demands had absolutely collapsed. This brought out many employees who were sure and ready for any kind of trouble. (Chicago) Agents everywhere among the men, urging them to follow the brotherhood leaders.

At a point that they were conservative, and the men could not expect anything until they overthrew the management, and took matters in their own hands, forcing them to deal by direct action.

Exponents of "direct action" he was flocking into the city, experts at sabotage, I. W. W. and other devotees of violence.

These agents in their addresses, boasted of burning cars, dynamiting bridges, tearing down telegraph and telephone systems, slugging police and army officials, and generally bringing a reign of terror.

Especially at meetings, where the foreign element predominated, show secondary speeches were received with enthusiasm and frequent efforts have been made to start a reign of destruction and terror at the yards here.

Simmered down to a few words, it is not a battle but wages, improved conditions, but it is a life and death struggle between elements of labor unionism and radicals, and as always the patient public is the chief sufferer.

The outcome will determine whether order or anarchy is to prevail, whether the equitable mean will find and whether the public will give rights whatsoever, that will be determined by the most active.

GOOD LUCK IN THIRTEEN YEARS

(The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 16.—Local baseball enthusiasts are pinning their faith in Manager "Bill" Clymer and a lucky thirteen to give them a pennant winning team this year. Clymer says he has it and the local fans believe him for they know he kept his word in 1905-6-7, and it is thirteen years since.

Clymer put the team through a fast and hard course of training at Albany, Ga. As proof of the team's ability he points with pride to the two games won from the Boston Nationals and the three taken from the Chattanooga team, the only professional games and teams played during the training season.

Clymer will begin the season with a number of new men. They include George M. McQuinn and Mulreanen, pitchers; Mares from the Cincinnati outfield and Fred Henry from Milwaukee at first. Terry Turner from Cleveland at second, Bob Scher from Louisville and Frank Noss a Columbus semi-pro in the outfield.

Grunau was a yard foreman or conductor on a train running into Chicago. Early in April the road added two coaches to this train, and put on a road conductor in compliance with the rules of the brotherhood of which he was a member. This appointment supplanted Grunau.

Grunau at once appeared before the general manager and said if he was not reinstated by 10 o'clock, then on hour and a half later, he would call a strike. The general manager asked sufficient time to permit the committee of trainmen to pass upon the case, as this committee, under the union rules must pass upon all such disputes.
